

Research suggests that note taking is most effective when done by hand. Yes, handwritten notes. Certainly, typewritten or typed out notes are very efficient, however notes written by hand are much longer.

The human brain integrating handwritten notes onto a computer-based productivity workflow is tricky.

Hardware, if all you have is a Smartphone, then we need to deal with the situation a bit differently.

This talk will introduce to you a simple system to integrate handwritten notes into your org-mode (Emacs) based productivity workflow.

- Gift of the problem of dealing with handwritten documents.

Note: This article is a summary of the notes.

- Advantages of handwritten notes Emacs org mode workflow Option 1: Hardware for handwriting available Option 2: Hardware for NOT handwriting.

Available at: